THE BRAIN OF THE BRITISH ARMY

Lord Kitchener is to-day recognised as the great organising brain of the English rank and file. He has made it plain to everyone that he has a good grip of the present situation. Only a few weeks ago he stated in the House of Lords that he would make provision for a long war. His utterances upon the present situation showed signs of careful thought. To the members of the first great Expeditionary Force sent to France he said:—

"YOUR DUTY CANNOT BE DONE UNLESS YOUR HEALTH IS SOUND."

HERE IS THE KEY to a great situation. This famous general knows that health and strength of physique, as well as superior war equipment, are necessary to win battles, and health to the soldier fighting for his country as well as the civilian fighting the great trade battles at home is essential. A healthy army should be a successful army, and Capt. H. E. U. BURKE, late Third King's African Rifles, British East Africa, states that CLEMENTS TONIC is the one great medicine for the soldier on active service or recuperating after wounds, fever, or other severe illness. He writes from Ocean Street, Paddington, thus:—

"I have benefitted much by your medicine, principally in Africa, where it was first given to me by an Australian, after a severe attack of malarial fever. I was taken to Nairobi, the centre of Government in British East Africa, in a state of collapse."

"My Australian friend gave me three bottles. It improved my appetite, creating a desire for food, the beginning of a general restoration to health, transforming a condition of extreme debility to one of splendid strength."

"I have cause to be grateful to this excellent medicine, and I am only fulfilling a duty in testifying its worth."

(SIGNED) H. E. U. Burke (Captain)

The "Third King's African Rifles" are at present fighting largely in the trouble in British East Africa to-day.

CLEMENTS TONIC

In times of war, more than in times of peace, this incomparable nerve medicine is required to keep the nerves strong and free from tension that might lead to severe nervous attacks and mental exhaustion. In cases of Insomnia and Nerve Breakdown it relieves rapidly.

YOU CAN BUY CLEMENTS TONIC AT ALL CHEMISTS AND STORES THROUGHOUT AUSTRALIA.

SIEGE.

BELGIUM'S GREAT FORTRESS.

ALLIES IN FRANCE.

VIOLENT FIGHTING.

RUSSIAN SUCCESSES.

ANTWERP IS BEING BOMBARDED BY THE GERMANS.

The Belgian defenders have been driven back in places, and the enemy is approaching the inner fort.

The Germans are said to have captured in the open field four heavy batteries and many guns.

The action at the northern end of the great battle line in France is still developing, and the enemy's cavalry have almost gone as far north as the coast.

Developments have been in favour of the Allies, but there is no sign of a decisive result yet.

In Russia the Germans have suffered further losses in the Suwalki district.

The Russians besieging Przemysl, in Austria-Hungary, have captured an outpost fortification.

werp. Bolderfont is burning, and it is reported that the Belgians were compelled to retreat for a short distance in the Liege district.

The Ursuline Convent, at Londerzeel, near Malines, where 56 nuns were nursing hundreds of wounded, was shelled and destroyed.

One shell burst in a ward, killing seven of the occupants. The shells seriously wounded others, and the others took shelter in the cellars. Suddenly the building burst into flames, and the Belgian soldiers, dashing through the flames, rescued the occupants.

THE BELEAGUED CITY.

ORTEND, Oct. 9.

The authorities at the Zoological Gardens have shot the dangerous carnivores lest the bombardment should break their cages and release the animals.

Six Zeppelins on Wednesday night dropped bombs on Antwerp. The Palace of Justice was partly destroyed. The principal attack is being made from the south-west.

Pitiable scenes occurred during the exodus of civilians towards Holland.

Numbers of wounded are arriving at Ostend.

GERMANS CROSS
SCHELDT.

A FIELD ACTION.

ORTEND, Oct. 9.

The Germans, under cover of a fog, crossed the Scheldt between Schoonaarde and Begenen.

After their previous repulses they changed their tactics, brought up an army corps from Alost, and threw a pontoon bridge across the river at a point where the defenders were few. Simultaneously they began an action along the whole river front, from Termonde to Uytbergen, near Fremberghe. The German guns outranged those of the Belgians, who retired.

Belgian reinforcements later began a hot battle, under a heavy fire of shrapnel from both sides.

The Belgians shot away many bodies of infantry on the pontoon, but considerable numbers crossed and occupied Beliaere.

The Belgians fiercely contested the passage of the artillery, and destroyed two guns midway. One battery managed to cross, and concentrated its fire on the Belgians.

The battle continues.

WAR BULLETIN.

MESSAGES FROM SIR GEORGE REID.

Oct. 9, 12.15 a.m.

Belgium: Fighting is proceeding on the northern and southern frontiers of Russia.

The Russians admit that the enemy is contesting the battle with tremendous obstinacy. A great battle is imminent on the Galician frontier. The Germans are endeavouring to outflank the Russian threatening Orlov.

8 p.m.

Belgium: The Belgian Government have moved to Ostend. The bombardment of Antwerp is proceeding. Antwerp has been shelled.

Official: Heavy fighting is proceeding on the frontier west of Suwalki.

The Russian offensive continues in East Prussia.

The enemy has made no progress on the left wing. The Germans have fallen back in the neighbourhood to the north of Arras, where the action favourably developed. Operations of two cavalry forces are developing westward almost to the North Sea. The Allies have taken the greater part of the positions abandoned in the Roye region between the Somme and the Oise. North of the Aisne the Germans are retreating.

The enemy's violent attacks in the Woerthe district have failed.

ESPIONAGE SERVICE.

October 9.—Official: The War Office and the Admiralty have ascertained that six years ago Germany established a system of espionage in England. To that effect, a special intelligence department was established, which discovered in three years the ramifications of the German secret service in England. Agents shadowed without taking action, unless necessary. On the declaration of war twenty known spies were arrested, and two hundred suspects interned.

ANTWERP.

BIG SIEGE GUNS.

GERMAN PROGRESS.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 9.

Fugitives from Antwerp state that a violent bombardment took place throughout Wednesday night, heavy guns having been brought across the Nethe. The first shells exploded in the southern part of the city, and set fire to the southern railway station. The inhabitants of that quarter fled.

Meanwhile a Zeppelin dropped bombs on the Hotel-Canal, which were immediately captured.

Later the north-eastern section of the city was bombarded, the suburbs of Brecht suffering severely.

The Governor issued a proclamation, recommending the inhabitants to make their cellars habitable, and to prepare for shells and the outbreak of fire.

An official German communiqué states that the Belgians crossed the Scheldt, and are now approaching the inner fort.

The Belgians between the outer and inner forts have been repulsed on Antwerp. The Germans captured in the open field four heavy batteries, 32 field guns, and many machine guns.

KING LEAVES CITY.

King Albert of Belgium left Antwerp yesterday, and has arrived at Scheut.

BOMBARDMENT TERRIBLE.

LONDON, Oct. 9.

The bombardment is terrible. Heavy shells have been fired into the city from the south and the Law Courts.

Fifty thousand people have left Antwerp. Severe fighting is proceeding outside Ant-

REIMS STILL BOMBARDED.

The Germans continue to bombard Reims daily. Half of the town is destroyed, and the remaining population is suffering terribly in cellars. The bombardment has now lasted 28 days.

GERMAN AIRCRAFT.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 9.

Messages from Cologne state that an aeroplane threw a bomb on to a Zeppelin hanger without doing any damage. The airman was driven off with a mitrailleuse.

Another aeroplane dropped a bomb on a hanger at Düsseldorf, and did some damage.

THE RUSSIANS.

FRESH SUCCESSES.

GERMANS LOSE GUNS.

REINFORCEMENTS.

LONDON, Oct. 9.

The Paris correspondent of the "Daily Express" states that the Russian army is still being reinforced, and troops are being hurriedly conveyed from East Prussia.

The enemy is still in force in the Roye region. We have retaken most of the positions we previously abandoned.

The density of the German forces north of the Aisne seems to have decreased.

The enemy on the heights of the Meuse, between Verdun and St. Mihiel, has withdrawn to the north of Hattin Chatel, but still holds St. Mihiel, and the same positions north of St. Mihiel on the right bank of the Marne.

The enemy's violent attacks in the Woerthe district towards Apremont have failed.

There is no change in the centre and right.

VIOLENT COMBATS.

PARIS, Oct. 9.

A communiqué states that the general situation is stationary, the positions being unaltered, despite violent combats, particularly at Roye.

AROUND ARRAS.

TERRIBLE LOSSES.

Disseminating fighting raged about Arras from the 1st to the 7th of October, the whole region being a veritable inferno. Shell and shrapnel fell without ceasing, and the losses on both sides were terrible.

For the week preceding the Germans developed a furious counter-attack from Valenciennes on Lens, and from Cambrai and Bapaume, on the Allies' position south of Arras, causing the Allies to fall back from Lens and Douai, fighting stubbornly. The enemy occupied Bethune. Though German shells fell in Arras, the main force swept round the town and cut the line between Arras and St. Pol, leaving a junction with the Bethune force. German troops went to Lille by train, firing from the windows as they went.

On October 2, when the Allies fell back, five German regiments were cut up, and the horses of their conveyances stampeded. They advanced on Arras at the village of Ploeghe, they made a desperate attempt to break through the British lines, but were repulsed. The whole five regiments broke and fled, and there was a veritable debacle, but, nevertheless, the Germans maintained vigorous counter-attacks.

On October 3 the battle which had hitherto raged in the nature of a series of attacks, continued, and the Germans made a supreme effort. The Germans, covered by the British inactivity, advanced upon the trenches. The British withstood their fire until they were very close, and then the rifle, and bayonet and cavalry charges sent thousands of the enemy flying.

The British have now thrown forward great wedges into the enemy's lines.

GERMAN OUTRAGES.

The pocket-book of an officer of a Saxon regiment was found to contain particulars of outrages.

A cyclist at a village pretended that he had been shot at. For this the village was set on fire, and all the inhabitants thrown into the flames.

At Leppes two hundred were killed. The writer states that the commander was responsible, as he could have prevented the pillaging and destruction.

AIR RAID ON ENEMY.

COLOGNE AND DUSSELDORF.

GERMAN AIRCRAFT.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 9.

Messages from Cologne state that an aeroplane threw a bomb on to a Zeppelin

MAP SHOWING THE REGION TO WHICH THE EXTREME NORTH OF THE FIGHTING LINE HAS PENETRATED, AND ALSO THE POSITIONS AGAINST WHICH THE GERMAN ARMY OPERATES IN NORTHERN BELGIUM.

SUFFERING IN TRENCHES.

The "Tamps" publishes extracts from a diary which was found in a dead German's pocket, and shows that extreme hunger and suffering existed in the trenches of the Marne and the Aisne between September 7 and 18.

DEFENCE OF SOISSONS.

The correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph" at Amiens gives details of a struggle on a plateau north of Soissons. Some French regiments had 2000 wounded out of 3000 while driving the Germans from underground tunnels.

VIOLENT COMBATS.

PARIS, Oct. 9.

A communiqué states that the general situation is stationary, the positions being unaltered, despite violent combats, particularly at Roye.

AROUND ARRAS.

TERRIBLE LOSSES.

Disseminating fighting raged about Arras from the 1st to the 7th of October, the whole region being a veritable inferno. Shell and shrapnel fell without ceasing, and the losses on both sides were terrible.

For the week preceding the Germans developed a furious counter-attack from Valenciennes on Lens, and from Cambrai and Bapaume, on the Allies' position south of Arras, causing the Allies to fall back from Lens and Douai, fighting stubbornly. The enemy occupied Bethune. Though German shells fell in Arras, the main force swept round the town and cut the line between Arras and St. Pol, leaving a junction with the Bethune force. German troops went to Lille by train, firing from the windows as they went.

On October 2, when the Allies fell back, five German regiments were cut up, and the horses of their conveyances stampeded. They advanced on Arras at the village of Ploeghe, they made a desperate attempt to break through the British lines, but were repulsed. The whole five regiments broke and fled, and there was a veritable debacle, but, nevertheless, the Germans maintained vigorous counter-attacks.

On October 3 the battle which had hitherto raged in the nature of a series of attacks, continued, and the Germans made a supreme effort. The Germans, covered by the British inactivity, advanced upon the trenches. The British withstood their fire until they were very close, and then the rifle, and bayonet and cavalry charges sent thousands of the enemy flying.

The British have now thrown forward great wedges into the enemy's lines.

GERMAN OUTRAGES.

The pocket-book of an officer of a Saxon regiment was found to contain particulars of outrages.

A cyclist at a village pretended that he had been shot at. For this the village was set on fire, and all the inhabitants thrown into the flames.

At Leppes two hundred were killed. The writer states that the commander was responsible, as he could have prevented the pillaging and destruction.

LONDON, Oct. 9.

The Paris correspondent of the "Daily Express" states that the Russian army is still being reinforced, and troops are being hurriedly conveyed from East Prussia.

The enemy is still in force in the Roye region. We have retaken most of the positions we previously abandoned.

The density of the German forces north of the Aisne seems to have decreased.

The enemy on the heights of the Meuse, between Verdun and St. Mihiel, has withdrawn to the north of Hattin Chatel, but still holds St. Mihiel, and the same positions north of St. Mihiel on the right bank of the Marne.

The enemy's violent attacks in the Woerthe district towards Apremont have failed.

There is no change in the centre and right.
